Everything is always changing
Even in a world that stays the same
Breakin' heavy hearts are shaken

All the lonely people live the game
He waits for her, she waits for him
They wait for anyone
And another day begins

People rushin' everywhere, never any time to care
Us and them and me and you, piling up so much to do
All the colors start to fade to gray, an ordinary day is just
One world away

Try to give them what they want
You're stuck inside that same old state of grace
All we are all we seem, a noisy dream inside a quiet place
I wait for her, she waits for him, he waits for anyone
And another day begins

People rushin' everywhere, never any time to care
All the colors start to fade to gray, an ordinary day is
One world away

People rushin' everywhere, never any time to care
All the colors start to fade to gray, an ordinary day is
One world away
