Good evening
Alright
Yeah
Happy to be breathing
Yeah
I am alive
Yeah

(You look like you've seen a ghost)

Most copious
Rain, soak the opiates
Notice how the phobias appropriately procreate
Woke up with a ghost farm focused on his groceries
When they aren't telling stories they are multiplying grossly
On the lawn
Let 'em loiter
Never let 'em spawn
The aberrations have been drinking this water for too long
So when they gather by the bird bath in the morning he will tell 'em
"I mean no disrespect, but you have all outstayed your welcome"
Interesting in a sense
Interrupt commiserating phantoms on your picket fence
How quickly they will lift their heads
And breathe an ultimatum like "the dead don't argue"
Set your living by the bayonet, but how alive are you?
Shit, A is all juice and bad etiquette
Elbows on the table, lobster bibbin' on the ready
He said "but how alive?"
"I don't know homey, you decide"
("No you decide")
Fine, how alive?
Too alive
How alive?
Too alive
How alive?
Too alive

And one by one around the yard 'til each one felt communal pride
Like they had done a little part in cleaning up the public
With a steaming plate of justice for them Easy Baker stomachs (say what?)
We the legends that home with the unremembered
Geriatric lore in the clutch of the budding censor Who snuck around the art police and all related governments
To infiltrate a human lung and hike up off his tongue
and lip
Ah! money's in the market for a mother-ship
Double as a vessel that drag its legacy under it
And who am I to hang them out to dry by the heap?
When if rehydrating fails, we're all dumber because of me
Zombies of the antiquated nation chatter quietly
The too alive channel from the library of rivalry
And summer's in the mud
Winter's by the tracks
No story goes untold Aes is back

I got a handful rocking the same poker face
Down to dance around the table like they own the place
I got the whole world thinking it's a holiday
'Cause they can smell the chum in the water from miles away

(You look like you've seen a ghost)

How alive?
Too alive
How alive?
Too alive
How alive?
Too alive
How alive?
Too alive
