Hey!

She said I read her diary, her secret inner fantasies
She said I broke the code of love
I caught her going through my drawers, an offense I felt of course
And then she broke the code of love

You broke it - you know you did - hah
You broke it - I watched you do it

She always thought she was my world, but I know lots of other girls
They made me break the code of love
We had a real prefab type thing, a docile domestic home scene
Until we broke the code of love

You broke it - you know you did - yeah
You broke it - I watched you do it

The code of love should never be broken
The code of love, words remain unspoken

(Solo)

The code of love should never be broken
The code of love, words remain unspoken

The code of, the code of, the code of, the code of (repeats 3x)

The code of love (the code of love) should never be broken
The code of love (the code of love), words remain unspoken
