In silence I speak, and praise the empty
As sunlight splits through naked trees
Nothing that feels invisible exists

You may believe in me
But I won't let you go with my soul
It's all around me
The season of red, green and gold
The cold winds steal your memory fresh out of my mind
The sky will fix the broken emotions in my eyes

I find support in the air
I find support anywhere
I find support in the flood
I find support in the love

And I will end you bravely
The space you left in me

You may believe in me
But my heart is staying here with me
Dancing like the dying leaves
As they spiral in the wind
