Jen you're stuck into my world now
And you're one of god's most precious pearls now
And your blue eyes show a new dimension
That this world has got a new extension
You came to me in days of sadness
There is no young there is no old
You took me into your world of madness
Now twice I don't have to be told Jen honestly I say I love you Hair, that has the colour of chestnut, that presence I admire you
Happy is your world wide religion
You can't hurt nobody, at least with no intention
We are just smiling at each other
Honey you must be from above
And those in sadness we will bother
We sold our souls for love
To everybody
And when you meet her
Then say hello for me
The sweetest child of mine
