

Count Raven

"The Divided World"

Visit "The Divided World" on MotoLyrics.com

Time will come when all stupidity is gone
Time will come when all the misery is done
Time will tell all the scars that you got, all the why's, and so forth!
Time will tell if it was you and what it was worth, then!
Sooner than you think now baby

Time will come when wars will be no more
Time will come when god knocks on your door
Time will tell if the life that you choose is the life that you wanted?
Time will tell in the questions you asked where they to be granted you!
Sooner than you think now baby

I can see your sorrow
Reading no tomorrow
The golden way is narrow that leads you home
The world has been divided
It has been decided
To separate the right from the eternal wrong's

Don't you know your losing
And yourself abusing
There is a choice in this time that's wrong
It's always been that Until we've seen that
This is not the place that you belong

Visit Count Raven page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.