She said she couldn't do it if she tried
But she never tried she never tried
It's running through her veins like cyanide
It gets her by *insert line here*

How long can she keep on taking
Something wrong
Memories of how she could've made it

The waves are crashing down
She's caught in the undertow
Drowning in the sea
She's looking for a light
But there's no where to go
Undertow

She sees the world through hazy blood-shot eyes
Just looking for another high
She lives by golden rules that don't apply

How long can she keep on taking
Something wrong
Memories of how she could've made it

The waves are crashing down
She's caught in the undertow
Drowning in the sea
She's looking for a light
But there's no way to go
Undertow

How long can she keep on taking
Something wrong
Memories of how she could've made it

The waves are crashing down
She's caught in the undertow
Drowning in the sea
She's looking for a light
But there's no where to go

The waves are crashing down
She's caught in the undertow
Drowning in the sea
She's looking for a light
But there's no where to go
Undertow
