Verse 1:

Believe is hard to let go once knew a girl who came to be so in love she
Would say so
Looking in the mirror couldn't even find herself
Blinded by the love that she felt
He was everything to her she would always talk about him
He was great he was this he was that amor,
When in fact she had more than that of course she wasn't gonna tell me it
Was embarrassing
Couldn't say what was going on
She wasn't weak if a man ever hit her it be over
It was a whole lot easier forgetting sweep under the rug after really
Wasn't anything
She smiled heart up on her gangster behind closed doors things are a whole Lot different
I mean this is what I heard, I proly heard some other shit but didn't want To disturb.

Chorus:

I don't wanna understand what's going on
I don't wanna realize that what your doing may be
wrong
You tell me hat you love me and I wanna believe it
Let me pretend because mi corazon is tripping.
Wanted to stop because I know a lot better
Must Be sick in the mind to put up with this forever
Patter fuck up before it's too late
Baby doll try to rise and don't hesitate.

Verse 2:

He wasn't hitting her he would treat her perfect
That's what the homegirl told me every single time

She'd get defensive or really really quiet
If anyone accused her man she'd start a riot
You couldn't ask her but somehow you knew
I mean the look up in her face said more than anything
She really loved him at least that's how she said it
I wish she would of seen all of the stuff so she'd forget it

But nothing worked she was better with denial
Even when he cheated right after having a child
She wanted a familia so she tried to make it work Put up with everything and whatever that shit took
She really thought he would change one day
But when the liquor hit his body he forgot okay
He didn't know her name,
He didn't know her meaning,
He didn't know it was his baby's momma he was beating

Chorus:

I don't wanna understand what's going on
I don't wanna realize that what your doing may be
wrong
You tell me hat you love me and I wanna believe it
Let me pretend because mi corazon is tripping.
Wanted to stop because I know a lot better
Must Be sick in the mind to put up with this forever
Patter fuck up before it's too late
Baby doll try to rise and don't hesitate.

Verse 3:

She didn't wanna be alone
She didn't wanna mess around and have nothing at home
Needed a purpose, hizo la rutina que hacer en la cocina
While her man partied out
Blowing feria and cocaina
Nobody to talk to but that was typical Anything she had to say would of been ridiculed
Besides it was nobody's business
She'd dealt for so long she had forgotten it was wrong
Everything he said seemed to always stick around
She just couldn't forget about the things that put her down
I saw that mess maybe a couple of times
And I'd try to understand but it would kill me inside
The whole purpose of me telling you this story is to hope you take care so
You don't have to be sorry

Take care of your kids and be sure to love them well...

Chorus:

I don't wanna understand what's going on
I don't wanna realize that what your doing may be
wrong
You tell me hat you love me and I wanna believe it
Let me pretend because mi corazon is tripping.
Wanted to stop because I know a lot better
Must Be sick in the mind to put up with this forever
Patter fuck up before it's too late
Baby doll try to rise and don't hesitate.
