I've never been that strong, never been the one to charge head on
I'm afraid to let this in, I have to try before the light goes dim

We pledge ourselves to all of this?
A broken promise? Just a lie? A target I can't hit?
And is being strong depending on our blind faith
Or is being gullible making us weak?

Now I'm scared, and I'm using you, hoping you will somehow pull me through
It's only when all is lost I need your help and I'll pay any cost
Will I take all this back?

We pledge ourselves to all of this?
A broken promise? Just a lie? A target I can't hit?
And is being strong depending on our blind faith
Or is being gullible making us weak?

Don't place on me this crown of thorns
I'm happy now, no need to be reformed
Please don't trust a single word I say
Because you know I will surely betray
You know I will betray

We pledge ourselves to all of this?
A broken promise? Just a lie? A target I can't hit?
And is being strong depending on our blind faith
Or is being gullible making us weak?
