Your street is littered with houses, of people that
You've never met
Names that you would thought you'd remember
But knew you'd always forget
Memories stripped from the past
The questions that never got asked
Like a broken down car in an old parking lot
Means nothing at all but it's that you got
And the moment is slippin' away
The answers you give aren't that great
It's like all the you do it's just old and they're new
And they're lost

[Piping solo]

All of your mistresses lied
To save your relationships, save you from time
When you slip into knowing that nothing is going to Kill you faster than life
In the end you're just moments away
From the chances you thought you might take
It's like all that you do is just old and then new and
Then lost
And the words that you tried hard to say get caught in

The noose that you make
It's like all that you do is just old and then new and
Then lost

In the end you're just moments away from the chances
You thought you might take
It's like all that you do is just old and then new and
Then lost (x3)

[Guitar solo]

(all that you are is not, all that you do's forgot,
Hold on to what you got (x2)

In the end you're just moments away from the chances
You thought you might take

It's like all that you do is just old and then new and
Then lost
Your street is littered with houses of people that
You've never met
Names that you thought you'd remember
But knew that you'd always forget
All that you are is not, all that you was forgot hold
On to what you got (x3)
Hold on to what you got (x4)
