My beloved autopsy ward, the product of hospital architects Inspected and approved by the College of American Pathologists Adjacent to the morgue and behind the administrative receptionist
Kept under lock and key, available only to us morbid scientists...
Two stationary MedRaxR dissection slabs and a moveable body hoist
Their stainless steel plating scrubbed, sanitized, and still moist
The tables are set at regulation height to avoid unnecessary strain Disinfected water pumps and aspirators wash debris down the drain...
White tiled walls...epoxy sealed floor Adequate overhead lighting...to grossly explore Tools of the trade...filed away in drawers 10,000 square feet...of legally sanctioned gore Morgue design, of the most practical kind Dictates the efficient dissection of your fellow mankind
The layout of the autopsy ward should be nefariously refined
And elevate necropsy to an art, for those so inclined...
Air conditioning design and primary system ventilation Enable complete aeration of formaldehyde fixative in dissection stations The ventilation hoods and exhaust design steal the odor of putrefaction
And are in accordance with the Occupational Safety and Health Administration...
Cabinet space...for microbiological supplies Medical twine...for the closure stitches I tie Bone saw whine...a postmortem lullaby Dictation equipment...court records to testify
For my StrykerR saw, disassembled and cleaned I pen this requiem, in honor of the remains it's seen For my StubenhauerR scalpel, sharpened and honed

I compose this sonata, for the autopsies it's performed...
The whiteboard conveniently located next to the hanging organ scale Lists charts lucubratly completed with organ weights and interesting details Close by, the x-ray facility and the many knobs and dials it entails Will ensure, with accurate forensics, that diagnostic truth shall prevail...
The adjoining dressing room houses lockers and showers
So that medical personnel will be routinely scrubbed and scoured Hands are cleansed with Iodophor soap; germs are devoured Surfaces are soaked with phenol-based detergents at any given hour...
Pressured Autoclaves...cook instrument debris Disposal bins...full of pieces disembodied Spare flash bulbs...for body photography Specimen bags...hold paraffin-set tissue trophies
The science of death...a morbid philosophy Death certificate pad...the coroner's eulogy
My beloved morgue...home of forensic pathology
The autopsy suite...for life's final catastrophes
