im talkin cancun, summer days, beaches we can run away black g bags we can play what we wanna play from this day, its only the exotic who'da thought this would blossom outta somethin so platonic used to sell chronic, young entrepenuer you hustled in the streets while i did it on tours from the whole rap world and our love behind doors like under baggy clothes you hid your allure but i saw to the core and had to be yours come with me out on this journey aint no askin what for whats more?
i know you feel the same way so follow your heart forget what your brain say im a main stay on this temporary voyage bring your luggage and your baggage our past will destroy us fresh from the carosel love aint a ferris wheel once we reach our peak we'll never descend i love you to the finest angel to that heaven can send i wanna hold you in my arms and never pretend that our love aint workin we was better as friends i know it never works for others but we better than them
cause in just one night we shared so much you spoke and i listened but we didnt dare touch its been a couple months you never called to say whats up so ill put it in this song when you hear it hit me up come with me lets take a trip to where we could get to to open up our hands and let time slip through i always know that i would get you and now that im with you aint no drama and no problems in the world i cant get through i wanna know who could love you like this who really loves you? who could love you like this?

i wanna know who could love you like this.. i wanna know.
