I'm going out to the city. It's beautiful tonight.

Follow me into this nightmare of cold sweat and tears of agony.

We fight a loosing battle day after day, we're so sick of trailing you.

They took us held us back, forgot that we're still here.

Not everybody gets a second chance so lets put in all
our heart.

Remind our selves of who we are and what we want so lets not give in to this monocratic scene.

so sick of keeping silent. we've grown so tired of you.
(x2)

It's your monocracy a self put on disease that spreads like panic in a sheep herd unguarded.

They took us held us back, forgot that we're still here to stay.

Not everybody gets a second chance so lets put in all
our heart.

Remind our selves of who we are and what we want so
lets not give in to this monocratic scene.

I'm going out to the city. It's beautiful tonight.

Lets spread the magic and glitter. It's beatiful tonight.

Too bad we have to say goodnight
