This is where we fall! This is where we stand!

Given our history we sport our failure in supply and rise from our ashes, to spark a fire just like a book of matches. Don't quit til we break a sweat and leave you with something you'll never forget.

I must have been sleeping. Somebody shake me cause i'm dreaming, dreaming of this tidal wave of hands. Push play and reach for the sky put 'em up put 'em up cause this is a heist of all your hearts and minds!

But we got up and now you notice well please just tell me. Well what's your status? I got to know. The lesson here to be careful what you sow. sometimes the seeds don't grow sometimes your fear is true and i've been hearing of all these mixed reviews. So the time has come at last and now. we're taking back what we've always waited for.

We've waited too long and now your hesitating, everyone can see your faking!

Rush the stage and take the microphones give them what they've waited for! Tear your pages off the wall fuel to the fire now call in crowd control!

I must have been sleeping. Somebody shake me cause i'm dreaming, dreaming of this tidal wave of hands. Push play and reach for the sky put 'em up put 'em up cause this is a heist of all your hearts and minds!

Put 'em up put 'em up!
