It's like we're born to break
It's like we're born to break
It's like we're born to break
It's like we're born to break
I hear you sing and i don't feel so bad at all now its gone yeah now it's gone
And i hear you speak it's like all my pain is gone now it's gone and my war has been won We're given a perfect place where we glow like a lantern and every worry about the empty space it could make nothing matter less or at all, and that is what i want sweet, sweet, nothing at all, that's what i want, yes i want to
i hear you sing, and i don't feel so bad at all
Now it's gone, yeah, now it's gone
And i hear you speak, it's like all my pain is gone now
Just keep your steady pace, because no one has all the answers
don't you worry about the empty space, because it could make nothing matter less, or at all, and that's what i want sweet, sweet, nothing at all, thats what i want, yes i want to Hear you sing, to hear you speak and i need to see it all, all,
I need to hear you say baby i need to hear you speak Can you see at all? At all? can you see the love you receive, can you see at all? at all?
Can you see your way out of this fog, can you see at all...all
Can't you see, baby can't you speak? I need to hear you say...
Can you see? Can't you see? Can you see at all... at all...
