Wake up, wake up. no I don't think I can, I can. I need more time to rest, to rest, to rest my eyes.

he shuts his eyes for moments at a time and never stops to think that his lack of sleep will eventually catch up with him. so he takes his pills now and lays his head back down, back down, oh no.

so lay your head back down, you need your sleep, you're passing out. so just lay your head back down now.

good morning... no good afternoon. I guess I slept in, I guess I slept through everything that happened in the morning. I get my days and nights crossed, yeah I hate loosing sleep but man this town is dead, oh man this town is dead.

so lay your head back down, you need your sleep, you're passing out. so just lay your head back down now.

so lay your head back down, just lay your head back down.

so lay your head back down, you need your sleep, you're passing out. so just lay your head back down now.
