Deep breath and he slips inside. call me classy, call me what you'd like. I'm everything that you're not. your fingertips, they gently press her lips. don't blame this on the drinks.

let me tell you...

I've got something that you lack. we'll just call it self-
respect. oh please tell me just what you were thinking.
when the lights went out did you see my face? did you say my name? did you feel the same?

high fives and remember the times, Matthew are you fucking blind? do you see what you have done to me, you have done to me? well I can't remember, whatever's clever, whatever, whatever.

I've got something that you lack. we'll just call it self-
respect. oh please tell me just what you were thinking.
when the lights went out did you see my face? did you
say my name? did you feel the same?

we were just having fun, we were just having fun, we were just having fun, having fun.
we were just having fun that's what you said when you were done. we were just having fun, well was it fun? did you have fun?

I've got something that you lack. we'll just call it self-
respect. oh please tell me just what you were thinking.
when the lights went out did you see my face? did you say my name? did you feel the same?
