Not all survive, the night,

but you and I will.

It's not a trait, of ours

to be frozen.

We'll find our own way to live, above, these trenches.

I don't believe your fear will last, until, the morning.

Don't let the social darwinist, dictate you're born with gifts, they'll never have.

If you believe the strong survive,

just look into the eyes of their children.

-Chorus:

You know it's gonna be a hard find.

Not all survive, but you and I will.

Take solace in the long nights.

We'll keep ourselves here in the still.

Rest assured your voices will be heard and greed will be forgotten

And when the light that hits the room is gone,

you'll be a soldier

On to your feet.

On to your feet.

You're safe with me.

On to your feet.

Get on to your feet.
You're safe with me.

-Chorus:

You know it's gonna be a hard find.

Not all survive, but you and I will.

Take solace in the long nights.

We'll keep ourselves here in the still.

-Solo:

-Chorus:

You know it's gonna be a hard find.

Not all survive, but you and I will.

Take solace in the long nights.

We'll keep ourselves here in the still.
Here in the still.

Here in the still.

Here in the still.

You and I will.

Here in the still.

Here in the still.

Here in the still.

You and I will.
