I gave you my everything and you threw it all away you promises meant nothing cause they were broke day after day and I cant live this way anymore, my heart can't take this pain
So I'm leaving in the morning, never to return again, never to return again

No more sad love songs, no more sleepless nights no more pointless traveling on love's pathway of light thought we'd last forever, but what did we know though its hard to admit it love comes and love goes there are things you said and done that I can not forget some moments we spent together that I do not regret but wounded hearts are hard to heal and I can't take

this pain

why should we continue trying just where would that lead?
And why should I continue crying for someone I don't need?
Made up my mind, put you behind, and now I don't be alone cause love has lost its hold on me and now I'm moving on
