Visit "My Wallow" on MotoLyrics.com

I've told you once and I'll tell you again
The game that you play only brings pain
Make up your mind, put my care to an end
I want to hate you but I really can't
The stare you gave me was full of pain, like a knife that cuts through me
The stare that made the difference is the one that sets
me free
The stare you gave me was full of pain I wallow in melancholy
The stare that's made the difference is the one that sets me free
I've told you once I'll tell you again
I have nothing to lose and the world to gain
My wallow bestows me, never descent
I want to hate you but I really can't
The stare you gave me was full of pain, like a knife that
cuts through me
me free

The stare you gave me was full of pain I wallow in
melancholy
The stare that's made the difference
Is the one that sets me free
Black are the feelings that live inside me
I wallow in melancholy
If I could turn back time I would...
I've been waiting patiently, but your embrace is long forgotten...
In a bed of lies you lay!
And I'm living for today, I through my pain all away!
No time to linger in dismay, but your getting in the way...
Would it be different today - in a bed of lies you lay You still have many hearts to slay, I'll wallow along the way...
