There's a shiver in my thighs whenever your around me
And it fills me with an ache that circles and surrounds me

There's and angel in your smile a demon in your kisses
If I gave you all my heart you'd send it back in pieces
Everything you do's gonna come back to you
Everything you say's gonna turn on you (in some way) Everything you've done is gonna bite you back (in some way)

Everything you do's gonna come back to you There's a darkness in your sould demanding imperfection

And every finger that you point will turn in your direction

Yes I hate the way I love you and I love the way you hate
me

When you can barely tolerate me
Everything you do's gonna come back to you
Everything you say's gonna turn on you (in some way) Everything you've done is gonna bite you back (just for fun)

Everything you do's gonna come back to you back to you

Everything you do

Everything you do

Try to figure why you always seem to Find another fault of mine you can scream to Kicking me, punching me, biting me, bruising me Putting me and keeping me down Its always this and it's always that
And it's allways something else

But anything you do to me

You ultimatley do to yourself

There's a shiver in my soul each time you try to break
me

If I don't run you'll drive me crazy
Everything you do's gonna come back to you
Everything you say's gonna turn on you (in some way) Everything you've done is gonna bite you back (just for fun)

Everything you do's gonna come back to you

Everything you do's gonna come back to you

Everything you say's gonna turn on you Everything you've done is gonna bite you back Everything you do's gonna come back to you back to you
