"Still Shaking"

I'm still shaking, from all the tension in one night
What's wrong with these people, they always wanna start a fight
You say that you've been thought a lot
And act like you don't give a fuck
But i'm sure that deep down inside
You have lost all your pride
It's pathetic, the way your act you're standing tall
Desperation, the explanation for it all
No i don't wanna get involved,
No that won't get your problems solved
But that night still spins trough my mind...
When did you fall behind?
What's in your head, we will never know,
The things you said, they all go to show
That you don't try to understand,
There's no one there to hold your hand
You're stuck, so you keep fucking up your life
But don't made me part of it
So now that's it over
And everything i said en done
For you it's a mind maze, you can't figure out what's wrong
It seems like you don't have a clue
That in the end you'll pay your dues
Cause your 'shallow' can not disguise
Your 'deep-down' is a lie
It seems like you don't have a clue
I guess you never do
I'm still shaking from all the tension in one night
