'Cause I believe I'm gonna love you

As the morning cast a thousand bits of sunlight
And they shine like diamonds on the morning dew
I believe that every single one is mine alone to see
And I believe I'm gonna love you

If it seems that there are special stars for lovers
And we see them scattered across the midnight blue
I believe that all of all this world
They're meant for you and me
'Cause I believe I'm gonna love you

I'll take you to a magic place
Where no one ever been

Where there's carpets made of flowers
And music in the wind
If you wonder why I've given you these treasures
Because you're like no-one else I ever knew
I believe that as we walk through time
The best is yet to come
And I believe
Yes I believe
'Cause I believe I'm gonna love you
