Standing room only at L.A.X.
I trade my ticket for some cigarettes
I won't believe it till they disappear

President's hiding on a submarine
See how he runs away from history
I won't believe it till they disappear
I won't believe it till I disappear

After all we've been through
Doesn't it seem a little bit funny to you
We should all shine from the violet blue
And now we're calling you from the greenhouse?

All of the warriors have gone away
I sit and watch the sky, waiting for the rain
I won't believe it till I disappear
I won't believe it till I disappear
I won't believe you till I disappear

After all we've been through
Doesn't it seem a little bit funny to you
We should all shine from the violet blue
And now we're calling you from the greenhouse?
