In the blue city
Candle fires burn bright Everybody listens while the old man tells 'em why everything has gone away under the red sky

In the new order under the new moon animal children hear the old man's tune everything has gone away under the red sky

Under the red sky
see the eyes of the children their love is everywhere, everywhere tonight ohh, listen to the old man cry songs of warning echo through the night all we know is what we feel under the red sky

all we know is what we feel under the red sky

Under the red sky
