its the sunshine when the sky is filled with rain its the moonlight in the middle of the day don't say you dont want it cos you could have it if you want it
its always a moment away its that phone call from the sons sent down to fight its the free-fall from a plane flying so high its that moment your seeing but you dont know if you believe it everything starts from inside

so close your eyes
breathe it in
tell yourself its happening
realise you can win
it all lives inside
it all lives inside

its that dreamcar, that'll take you out for miles its that new yard, grounds so green the tree's will smile you know where your going and you can capture every moment dont let it escape from your side its that cute girl she just asked you for your name its that new world where your heart can feel obeyed theres no dream without vision what your choose is your decision

it all lives inside
it all lives inside

dont be afraid to fall apart make sure the choice is from your heart you gotta feel it say that you want it

tell me that you believe (believe, believe, believe)

so close your eyes

it all lives inside
it all lives inside
