Pour yourself into me
Unveil yourself set me free
In the pale moonlight
We sit alone
Arise from your slumber
In my arms,
let me know, open up

Tormented soul
How we were wrong
In our blindness
We suffered too long

The earth clothed in snow,
and we both know
Our time is here,
no need to fear
Do you remember vividly
The lies you made up which scarred me

I stand alone,
in this dark place
I hear her voice,
I see her face
As the moon shines through this blanket of night
I reach out to you,
you turned away
The lies you made up,
do you remember

I feel so bitter,
I see right through you
There was nothing I could hold on to
When I am hurt,
why dont you weep
Your shadow is haunting me.
