Can I get a little
Can I get a little wiser Everyday's a little Everyday's a little nicer ooh

I feel a confidence in me
Oh I wouldn't change, I wouldn't change a single thing
I've learned to grow instinctively And without pain then tell me please where would we be
We sometimes make mistakes, but if we're wise we learn from them
I still recall the days thinking I knew everything Regrets, we all may have a few Encounters that weren't meant to be
If I knew then what I know now
Surely I would not be me

Chorus

As if it was just yesterday
Oh there's little me assuming I've seen everything
A change to such a big city
And may I say, streetwise wasn't my middle name But young and brash convinced I had the whole world on a string
Situations did occur, I lost control, it's sink or swim
If you want more than I'll allow Make promises you cannot keep I'm glad I'm so much wiser now Got out before I fell too deep

You hear about it every day
Young girls naïve and lead astray Obsession with celebrity, wanting to be like her in the magazines

There's always someone who talks the talk, lures you in, and walks the walk
And you, you gotta try your luck, you want to win and make a buck
But in the end you've only got yourself this is what I've come to see
