

Nate Logan

"Storm Before The Calm"

Visit "Storm Before The Calm" on MotoLyrics.com

This is the storm before the calm
This is the lean before the fall
When everything you feel that's wrong
Turns out to be right after all
This is the miss before the shot
This is everything you've got
This is missing you walk in the door
This is me missing you missing me even more

Take your time
No one's rushing you
Spill your heart
No one's hushing you
Tell the truth
Cause everyone's expecting a lie
Just let go like you've done a million times

We'll let this play out how it's meant to.
Oh.

This is the storm before the calm
This is the lean before the fall
When everything you feel that's wrong
Turns out to be right after all
This is the miss before the shot
This is everything you've got
This is missing you walk in the door
This is me missing you missing me even more

If I told you things were dark, would you shed some light?
If I told you to let go, would you hold on tight?
If I told you to wait, would you wait in a line?
If I told you time was up, would you make up your mind?
If I told you I was scared, would you make me brave?
If I told you I was crazy, would you keep me sane?
If I told you I was cold, would you keep me warm?
If I told you times were tough, would you stay through the storm?

We'll let this play out how it's meant to.

This is the storm before the calm
This is the lean before the fall
When everything you feel that's wrong
Turns out to be right after all
This is the miss before the shot
This is everything you've got
This is missing you walk in the door
This is me missing you missing me even more

Make the breaths fast, make the time slow
But please let me know, wherever you go, you won't forget me
Don't tell me that you're gone, assure me that you're there
Let me know I'm wrong and that you still care
But don't you dare tell me you meant what you said
Don't you dare tell me you meant what you said

This is the storm before the calm
This is the lean before the fall
When everything you feel that's wrong
Turns out to be right after all
This is the miss before the shot
This is everything you've got
This is missing you walk in the door
This is me missing you missing me even more

Visit Nate Logan page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.