I Get on stage for the first time
The curtains and the lights down low
And now in a couple of hours
It be filled with people
I am gonna have to steal the show

Ooooh

I waited all my life for this moment
And now that it is finally here
In the final seconds before I go up
I am suddenly struck by fear
Cause they say that higher up in the air
The bigger the change you fall
But then I try to be sorry
For something I tried that you wish never..

Hello world, here I am
I'm gonna givin' everything I can
Should I fall, I just get up again
And keep on trying
Should I fall, I just get up again
And keep on tryin'

The curtain opens and
Here I come
Out of the shadow into the light
Whatever happens in the next few minutes
May be the rest of my life
Am I real or is this moment never coming back
So I step on a second
Stair on the crowd
And make sure that I will never forget

Hello world, here I am
I'm gonna givin' everything I can
Should I fall, I just get up again
And keep on trying
