Cleansing my soul in temples of light reborn with God's love, delivered from the night given a second chance with a new life in sight and after a day there's always the night

Astray-souls astray

Travelling through this life to attain the unknown goal the quest for putting an end to the strife that binds one to one's toll altering adjusting the ways to find the golden path attempting to master the maze mitigating the inevitable aftermath

Roaming between the religions between different ways of thought seeking for the meaning of life and what we're living for without capacity to solve the riddle we wonder 'til we are no more

Outstanding the sins of the past leaving them all behind looking younder at what's ahead hiding the dark thoughts in the haze of your mind following guides and signs utilizing the different charts studying the sciencies desiring to master the art Seeking for the answers untold collecting knowledge to foresee what'll be after this death... shall it all unfold? after this life... is there nothing but eternity?
