My veins begin to freeze as I adapt to cryogenic sleep slowly losing consciousness in the grasp of high-technology

I'm falling through the scrying window spinning through a spheric world confluent, psychedelic flashing visions clear

Holographic, schematic molecular, reversal transmutation, acceleration access access access to myself

I am on a journey through the sanctum of myself I am searching for the secrets of my soul I am experiencing the depths of my mind I'll find entrance to inner dominion

I chase myself through the maze just to find what's in it facing the mirror of emotions the spectrum of my spirit

Revive memories, impale oblivion I am present, in my own mind

Seconds freeze, vacuum time reality denied collapsing mind, trapped inside forever I will die?

I am running mindless through the maze as I face the entrance to the gate behind the gate there's just another maze this is eternity, I am forced to face I see the image of my spirit spectrum every color has turned black or grey there are no limits to how much a soul can suffer I will experience for an eternity
