Hey, can you hear it? There's a voice but it's inhuman.
Hey, can you feel it? There's a tremble but it's inhuman.
Oceans spit out oil, climatic horror, the air is breathing dirt.

Pollution of environment; the world around, how can I struggle for?

Hey, don't you wanna hear it what I will say;
'cause it's tragical.

Hurricanes rage wilder, wilder than before,
the earth is going to get insane.

Earthquakes getting stronger, stronger than before,

daily you can hear it in the news.

Hey, can you hear it? There's a voice but it's inhuman.

Ref:

This is the price, the price we pay,
for our irreversible destruction.

Protect what you need to survive.

Don't you hear the roaring nature that sends a sign of our irreversible destruction.

Whale screams stand in the air

(extents of our irreversible destruction.)
