He couldn't move a mountain nor pull down a big oak tree

But my Daddy became a mighty big man with a simple philosophy

Do what you do do well, boy
Do what you do do well
Give your love and all of your heart
And do what you do do well

Sometimes he'd kiss my mother and hold her tenderly
Then he'd look across the top of her head and he'd wink and say to me

Do what you do do well, boy
Do what you do do well
Give your love and all of your heart
And do what you do do well

Well, he was a man of laughter, but if tragedy came by
The tears ran free and he'd say to me never be afraid to cry

Do what you do do well, boy
Do what you do do well
Give your love and all of your heart
And do what you do do well

Today I still remember just like yesterday
'Bout a mighty big man with a mighty big heart and a mighty few words to say

Do what you do do well, boy
Do what you do do well
Give your love and all of your heart
And do what you do do well
