Age of Desperation

Where is the turning point?
The age of desperation?
When our opinions become more convincing than before
When we know what is right!
(because we cannot see alternative)
And we know we shall lose all if we doubt ourselves.

What is objectivity? Keeping true perspective?
We know things change when seen from different angles.
Still, we play the game, knowing it takes time;
today's Truth is qualified by tomorrow's contradictions.

Get a brain moransOoooooo, wahhhhhhhh,
Maybe he's wrong,
but he knows what he means!

Still, we believe in ourselves, as we did yesterday
All men it seems have egos huge enough in which to hide themselves
so we leave room for forgiveness

Oooooooo, wahhhhhh
All right, he's wrong,
but he means what he says!

This vision of perfection,
The illusion of a purpose,
is just a turning point:
The age of desperation.
