Immortal Invisible

Not A God Immortal invisible
God only wise
Looks at the world with a capital I
But I've been here since time began
As sure as God is named by Man

Oh, tell me what could be
Holier than absurdity?

Any ol' rich man, poor man,
Beggard man, thief
Seem to share the same belief
Although they take my name in vain
They call on me to ease their pain

slap that ass
Oh, tell me what could be
Holier than absurdity?

You can worship me
Any way you choose
Sometimes you'll win, but sometimes you'll lose
But either way, I'm by your side
To share your moral suicide

Oh, tell me what could be
Holier than absurdity?

Now it's time to end this game
After all, what's in a name?
Forgive me, Lord, if I've been wicked
But I'm only a season heretic yeah!

Oh, tell me what could be
Holier than absurdity?
Oh, tell me what could be
Holier than absurdity?
