Something To Say

I don't know what anybody's saying anymore
Everybody's talking but I heard it all before
I seen it in the papers and I watched it on t.v.
Words are gonna beat the living daylights out of me

There's something to be said for having something to say
Each modest opinion and dogma has its day
Bitter, sweet, bad or good, overstated, understood
There's something to be said for having something to say

It's not often I get hung up with the origins of time
Behind each mystic mountain there's another one to climb
No one knows where it ends or where it all begins
But there's many a solution to wash away your sins

And there's something to be said for having something to say
Each modest opinion and dogma has its day
Bitter, sweet, bad or good, overstated, understood
There's something to be said for having something to say

It looks like it's all down to the survival of the strong
Nothing is all right and nothing is all wrong
Remember when your dreams go down the universal drain
The best things in life are the things you can't explain

And there's something to be said for having something to say
Each modest opinion and dogma has its day
Bitter, sweet, bad or good, overstated, understood
There's something to be said for having something to say
Yeah, there's something to be said for having something to say
