I turn around and I see you in front of me
But nothing has changed since I've been here before
This sinful life used to be a part of me
Until I realized it was my pain that you boar.

So tonight, I become something more.
So tomorrow, I won't have to fight this war
And you'll see a different side of me
Cause I feel like I have found something
I will not face, anymore.

I used to be beside of you 'till I realized
My Creator was on the other side of me
And now I can see that you're falling apart from the inside
But he's the one who died to set us free.
