The rain on the water floods my soul like a newborn baby with no control. But I know you're with me every waking moment and you'll always be here no matter how wrong I've done..

Chorus-

Cause I believe in second chances and I no longer fear being alone, and I believe in second chances cause the first one has almost come and gone.

Take the mask from your face and show your emotions cause the king is here, the king is here. He'll take your sin and your shame, and throw it deep in the ocean cause the king is here, the king is here.
