

Crash Test Dummies "Overachiever"

Visit "Overachiever" on MotoLyrics.com

Five, four, three, two, one, zero, ignition

Long ago, a woman prayed that her suitors be repelled
So she might serve God and be His only God heard her prayers floating up and His heart was cheered
He rewarded her amply with a full beard

Then she wondered
If she should start to take it easy
Overachiever, might be putting it mildly

A student of behavior psychology
Conditioned himself to stick to his studies
He grew tired of these routines and tried to drop them
But he was caught in his own trap and couldn't stop them

Then he wondered
If he should start to take it easy
Overachiever, might be putting it mildly

Once a man was determined to get into
The program for astronauts and go to the moon
Finally he was in space and saw the planet
Fear struck and he threw up inside his helmet

Then he wondered
If he should start to take it easy
Overachiever, might be putting it mildly

Visit Crash Test Dummies page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.