This moment without words is growing inside of me I know I felt this before still it's something I've never seen

And it's easy if you're somewhere near and it doesn't matter what you do
And even when I just think of you it makes my world turn into something new

These things are much too easy to understand Right now it is more likely to be empty Yet I keep filling somehow

And it's easy if you're somewhere near
and it doesn't matter what you do
And even when I just think of you
it makes my world turn into (something new)

It's perfect it's magic like sunshine it's warm And it has been hiding inside me for a while It's breaking my heart out of this shell it's gone Do you feel what I feel when everything is beautiful

Most of the time I stand here staring at the wall I wish you were here with me
- god I wish you were the wall

And it's easy if you're somewhere near
and it doesn't matter what you do
And even when I just think of you
it makes my world turn into (something new)

Can I walk away from here if I'm left without your love?
Can you understand what I feel?

Can you understand at all?
If you walk away from here
I am left without your love If you feel the way I feel everything is so beautiful
