I woke up in the morning thinking of you,
I made some breakfast for myself.
I tried to stumble thru the day without you,
You keep on coming to my mind.
But when you asked why I said I'm over you,
But now I know it wasn't true.
'Couse every hour, every minute,
Every second, I'm not over you.
I can't forget all the times we spent together,
I don't expect you to understand.
And even though I said it wouldn't make much difference,
I still hurting deep inside.
I am over you
I wake up in the morning thinking of you,
I make some breakfast for myself.
I try to stumble thru the day without you,
You keep on coming to my mind.
