Said she would like to keep the pillow warm
Said she'd like to stay and dream
The sanctuary so becomes my need
Said she would like to peek beyond the door
Maybe those rooms hold much more
The more she longs to feel but is never there
Said she would like to dwell within the web
Of the things he always says
Entangled all my limbs with words from him
Said she has many years to polish these
Place them neatly please he says
You wouldn't want to hurt just anyone
Not just anyone said she

Said she would like to have some time away
From the games he likes to play
She can't believe the shit she does for him
Said she would like to move herself along
Man I'm feeling super strong
Stronger than the child that once believed
And it was there said she

Said she would like to keep the pillow warm
Said she'd like to stay and dream
The sanctuary so becomes my need
Said she has many years to polish these
Place them neatly please he says
You wouldn't want to hurt just anyone
Not just anyone said she
