They serve no lords
They prey wrong gods
They hide their eyes in dust
For their defense
They see no sense
In what you love so much
The only thing
They can accept
Is their neutral dreams
They live for war
But when they die
They say they die for peace

For you to prove
Your holy truth
There is another place
They look at you
But what they see
Is just a shadow face
The neutral thoughts
In neutral world
Is more than just a disease
They live for war
But when they die
They say they die for peace
