Watching the news warning of another global tide Running faster towards disaster tabloids Screaming loud Wonder where it all went so wrong Building walls hiding in our homes

We live in the age of hysteria We seem to forget what it's all about Everywhere I go, I see it and I know That we live in the age of hysteria

Aggravation through our nation makes no sense at all There's an even greater picture but our minds Are too small Evolution will even out our mistakes if we realize

That we live in the age of hysteria We seem to forget what it's all about Everywhere I go, I see it and I know That we live in the age of hysteria

I think we can work it out Remember what you used to care about We don't wanna fight No need to argue we know we're right

I think we can work it out Remember what you used to care about

That we live in the age of hysteria Wonder where it all went so wrong Building walls hiding in our homes

We live in the age of hysteria We seem to forget what it's all about Everywhere I go, I see it and I know That we live in the age of hysteria

We live in the age of hysteria (x3)
