"Cold-Hearted Town"

To the way that you won't be when I feel you're gone To the side-steps and concepts that conquer the sound of longing your contact and cold-hearted town.
Yeah I'm longing
I've been turning inside, turning inside-out what I've been waiting for I've been running around this place, and I've been running the silence of your face Because I feel your heart as I walk through the sound of photos in progress and cold-hearted towns.
She's waiting, she's watching as I fear the sound
Cold-hearted and senseless, yet I'm broken down
She's waiting, she's watching as I fear the sound of walls closing in on the state that I'm found.
