Walk away today, i must leave you behind
Like we've waltzed around the words so many times
We remind in time that the motions will repeat
But the distance doesn't finalize defeat
So it goes
There's a weight that never seems to let it go
And i'm passing through the atmosphere like smoke
On the way today
Free from town to twon
Every antidote i lift gets written down
Every letter ever sent her does remind
That our memories are always on my mind
So it stays
Wait for the world to stop and i won't run away (x3)
At least not today
