Deep blue eyes just like deep blue skies
The sound of your voice is sweetness even without the kiss
And that kiss just like an angel's kissing me strength to my soul
My soul keeps floating and it can't go higher no more
No more

No, you can't see what you've got is what I need No, you can't see, yeah, please lift your head and look at me

Take one more breath girl, tell me again that you're not the one
This times not that easy, this time I can't just pick up and run
It's a sense of completeness that I get when we are alone
Aware of the fact that my head hurts
So much that I can't no more Can't no more

No, you can't see what you've got is what I need
No, you can't see, yeah, please lift your head and look
at me

Stop and think about what I say to you and only you I can't take back one word no, 'cause things won't be the same

No you can't see what you've got is what I need No you can't see yeah, please lift your head and look at me
Please lift your head and look at me
