Breathe in now

Breathe in and out because I don't want to fall down in this time

And the sun and the wall in safer times

I haven't been this sad in,

hold your mind

Yeah hold your mind
And it feels so bright on that cold south side

on your way through the smoke and the rain We'll watch the wind and the clouds cough up the sun

Tell all the girls and boys to count to one

There's a time for, there's a time for pain

There's a place for love, one in the same
And it feels so bright on that cold south side

on your way through the smoke and the rain

And it feels so bright on that cold south side

as you hold to the cause of the pain
The way that you want me, the way that you are

You wanted to find it's not that far

The way that you want me, the way that I am

You wanted to find it's not that hard
