3 AM, I'm not sleeping
Cold shakes, my ears are ringing
From loud music and caffeine late last night

Hazy night, ambitious yearning
Stale trash and streetlights burning Wasted hours and tired sound lost sight

Through my thoughts I'm sifting
My fears keep slowly drifting
The windows open with no breeze in here

Seven years just shattered
Smashed like a broken mirror
Pieced back together this is still unclear

You know I never wanted, you know I never wanted anything
I never asked for more
You know I never wanted, you know I never wanted
anything
I never asked for more
I was walking around couldn't hear a sound I was walking around
But I'll tell you
I was walking around couldn't hear a sound I was walking
